OUR MISSION

To document, celebrate and share the educational, social, cultural and military history of students, faculty and administrators of George Washington Carver Regional High School, the only institution of higher education in the four-county region of Culpeper, Madison, Orange and Rappahannock from 1948-68.

Welcome to the newest cultural and community resource within Culpeper, Orange, Madison and Rappahannock counties.

Not JUST for nostalgia, the Carver 4-County Museum is a place to have photos and documents scanned, record your stories, share ideas with neighbors and friends, search our archive, and hold forums and training sessions on issues that impact all aspects of our community.

The Carver 4-County Museum presents exhibits developed around a central question. Our first, Origins, answered, “How did the idea of secondary education for African American children take root and become realized within our region?”

What’s next? Why did sports thrive in this rural Virginia high school? Find out at opening September 28, 2019.
